PANGNIRTUNG, N.W.T.

POPULATION 906 (1977)

Pangnirtung is located on a fiord of the same name off Cumberland Sound on the eastern side of Baffin Island.

There is some evidence of Dorset Culture sites near Pangnirtung. If confirmed the area has been populated for some 2,000 years. The area had many camps due to the abundant wildlife.

The area was visited in 1585 by John Davis and in 1616 by William Baffin. John Ross's report in 1818 of the abundance of whales in the region led to the expansion of the whale fishery into these waters. In 1894 an Anglican mission was opened at the whaling station on Blacklead Island and operated until 1926.

In 1921 a trading post was opened at the current community of Pangnirtung. The R.C.M.P. established a post in 1923. In 1928 the Anglican Church opened a hospital and re-established its mission. A school was built in 1960.

The Pangnirtung Eskimo cooperative was formed on February 8th, 1968 by ten artists: Amasie Arnakak, Philip Kuniloosie, Ekidulah Komoartok, Anilniliak, Paul Veevee, Peter Karpik, Eric Anoee, Mosesie Tautoakjuk, Simon Shaimaik, Lamee Kudlualik.

Aside from arts and crafts, the co-op runs a retail store, delivers oil and gasoline and runs the sewing centre.
